The Band.

If a rock band expresses interest in politics, then the result is usually a highly explosive mixture of discomfort, anger, creativity and the determination to be noticed. This is the exact case with promising Austrian band Räumungsalarm. At times their music borders on the commercial, but it is pleasing without trying to be ingratiating. Their music pays tribute to great idols like Rammstein or Die Toten Hosen, without losing its independence and identity. At first sight, Räumungsalarm's topics catch your interest, thereafter you are ruthlessly drawn under their spell. There is hardly any location where Räumungsalarm has not yet played, its reputation as a merciless live band has brought them support gigs for top-acts at like Jesus Messerschmidt, Schönheitsfehler or Terrorgruppe home and abroad. Over the years the band has won the hearts of numerous fans and established itself as quite simply the leading metal-punk band.

The Past.

After a few changes (musicians and musical style), in 1997 a core of five emerged: Founder, singer and text writer LÄRMI CHAOS is the soul of the band. He himself was politically active for years and contributes the typical contents for the songs of Räumungsalarm. Bass guitarist TOMMY YOUNG had among other things the chance to contribute to the success of the local Rock'n'Roll legend Ballroom Blitz, with whom he went to England on three successful tours. Guitar player JAKOB JACK DANIELS was a member of various other bands before he joined forces with Räumungsalarm. In 1992 he also opened the Jack Daniel's Recording Studio in Vienna, which became one of the country's leading production locations for rock music within a few years. The band was completed with the arrival of drummer THE WONDERFUL SIR MARTIN and keyboard player MIRI, who take care of the necessary power and accuracy not only in musical terms.

The Album.

"Hart aber Herzlich" ("tough but friendly") (Wild One Rec./Demonware Rec./NSM) is not only their newest work - it is a statement, a more than clear opinion reflecting on the political concerns in the country, at a time when most people feel more comfortable by simply ignoring everything. Direct, groovy and modern "Hart aber Herzlich" is a first class production (produced at the well-known Jack Daniel's Studios in Vienna) that comes with an artwork characteristically showing the uncompromising course of the band. "Musik gegen rechts" ("Music against the Right") is the undisputed formula of this extraordinary band. From now on it will echo all over the country - roar along or hide away.

Is Austria moving towards right

We fight back...

Hart aber Herzlich
